

NEUEN-THERER Grégoire

(1825 - 1903) ¹

Luxembourg-city

Biography

NEUEN was born 1825 in the heart of Luxembourg-city (272 rue marché aux herbes), as son of a sellier. His mother Angelica BOURLET was of rather poor origin, daughter of a “civis sartoris hujus urbis” (supported citizen of the city).

NEUEN's wife, Julie THERER, was the daughter of a huissier de salle au Gouvernement provincial. Both her parents were born in the Belgian province of Luxembourg (Houfallize, Bastogne).

NEUEN became a Schlossermeister and lived in the old part of Luxembourg-city with his growing family of eleven children, successively at the following addresses: ²

288 Nord Gasse	(1850)
7 Nord Gasse	(1855)
11 Philippus Gasse	(1858)
3 Kohlen Gasse	(1860 to 1866)

When NEUEN applied for a patent in 1865 his occupation was fabricant de meubles en fer. ³
NEUEN died in 1903 in Luxembourg-city (8 avenue Monterey).

¹ FamilySearch database (G3L4-FGZ)

² he later moved to the rue du Saint Esprit and finally to avenue Monterey where he died

³ G. Neuen-Therer manufactured the metal army beds for inventor Hartmann in 1861 (see LUA72a)